Hello,

Hey there! I'm Meixin Diao. I grew up in Xinjiang, China, but when I was in middle school, I took a big step and moved to Shanghai on my own. Being independent is second nature to me, but I also love working with others and adapting to new situations.

As a designer, my hobbies are an important part of my work. I like photography very much and I like to capture many moments with my camera, which helps me to be able to focus on structure and composition better. I also love to visit homeware stores, which allows me to see more different styles of furniture that can be better utilized when designing interiors.

I'm pretty easygoing and always up for something new. Whether I'm working alone or with a team, I find joy in every challenge and get inspired by everything around me.

Thank you,

Meixin Diao
